

CMA 2011 Award Recipients

Each year, the Canadian Museums Association (CMA) is proud to celebrate excellence in the Canadian museum sector. This year is no exception with the presentation of 16 awards during a special celebratory dinner that was held at the Hilton London Hotel on April 13, 2011. The CMA wishes to congratulate all award recipients for their professional achievement and excellence in museum projects.

The CMA recognizes individuals who have significantly contributed to the museum community:

Fellows

Janet M. Brooke and Daniel T. Gallacher as new Fellows, the highest form of recognition bestowed by the Canadian Museums Association. Congratulations to both for their significant contribution and dedication to the arts in Canada, their tireless efforts on behalf of museums and for their support of the CMA.

Award of Distinguished Service

The CMA saluted the outstanding careers of David Baron, Yves Lacasse, Katherine A. Pettipas and Dennis Richard Reid.

The following awards were presented in collaboration with other organizations:

ICOM Canada's International Achievement Award

Presented to Gail & Barry Lord of Lord Cultural Resources for their invaluable contributions to international museology.

Museums and Schools Partnership Award

The Museums and Schools Partnership Award — in collaboration with the Canadian Teachers' Federation — was presented to the Centre d'exposition de Val-David and its partner Polyvalente des Monts in recognition of their exemplary collaboration in the development and delivery of « À PART ÊTRE », an educational artistic program for students in their community.

Canadian Federation of Friends of Museums: the Museum Volunteer Award

Recognized the Bishop White Committee from Toronto, Ontario for their outstanding work as volunteers.

Canadian Federation of Friends of Museums
Fédération canadienne des amis de musées

Congratulations to the Bishop White Committee, winners of the Volunteer Award, for their more than 50 years outstanding work at The Royal Ontario Museum.

The CFFM is the national voice for the thousands of Canadians who generously commit time, money and energy to support museums big and small. Join us to promote the value of museums.
