

NO MUSEUM IS AN ISLAND:
MOBILIZING RESOURCES, BUILDING CAPACITY

VANCOUVER 2018

CANADIAN MUSEUMS ASSOCIATION NATIONAL CONFERENCE 04 • 9–12

NO MUSEUM IS AN ISLAND

The late Stephen E. Weil has long been considered one of the museum community's most insightful (and frequently wittiest) commentators. His 1980 essay entitled No Museum is an Island is just as relevant if not more so today than almost 40 years ago. If Canadian museums and galleries once stood as islands, distanced from the turmoil of the world around them, the situation in which they find themselves today is very different. Many museums feel like they operate in a vacuum in a fragmented sector where it is difficult to sustain best practices. There is much reinventing and far too little sharing. Smaller museums feel distanced from larger institutions and there is no question that all museums are feeling financial pressures. While arguably there are localized successes there appears to be as many missed opportunities. It seems we are in the hands of serendipity and the chance of who is working where. It is time to change!

IN APRIL 2018 WE'LL COME TOGETHER IN BEAUTIFUL VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA

to address the difficult questions and challenging issues facing Canada's museums and galleries:

- Who should provide the critical resources needed for the museums of the 21st century?
- How will museums successfully mediate between their traditional missions and mandates to better serve the future while addressing the insistent demands of the present?
- How will museums strengthen their capacity without compromising their basic museum goals and objectives?
- How do we collaborate, both internally and externally, to reach our objectives?

DELEGATE PROFILE: More than 500 decision makers who are directly involved with Canada's cultural institutes are expected to participate. These will include: Executive Directors, Chief Financial Officers, Curators, Educators, Interpreters and Senior Managers, as well as Board Members.

SESSIONS: Plenaries, breakouts, workshops and study tours will explore a variety of topics, many related to the conference theme — NO MUSEUM IS AN ISLAND: MOBILIZING RESOURCES, BUILDING CAPACITY.
